- 6. Defendant Glenn M. Gallant ("Gallant") was at all relevant times Secretary of Columbia and chairman of the board of directors and a principal shareholder. He signed Columbia's relevant shareholder disclosure documents and SEC reports issued during the Class Period.
- 7. Defendant First Independent Computers, Inc., a Texas corporation ("FICI"), is in the business of information services and at all times relevant hereto has been a wholly-owned subsidiary of Columbia.
- 8. The individuals named as defendants in ¶¶5-6 above are referred to herein as the "Individual Defendants." The Individual Defendants, because of their positions as high-ranking officers and/or directors with the Company, possessed the power and authority to control the contents of Columbia's quarterly and annual reports, SEC filings, press releases and presentations to securities analysts, money and portfolio managers and institutional investors, i.e., the market. Each defendant was provided with copies of the Company's reports, SEC filings and press releases alleged herein to be misleading prior to or shortly after their issuance and had the ability and opportunity to prevent their issuance or cause them to be corrected. Because of their positions and access to material non-public information available to them but not to the public, each of these defendants knew that the adverse facts specified herein had not been disclosed to and were being concealed from the public and that the positive representations which were being made were then materially false and misleading. The Individual Defendants are liable for the false statements pleaded herein, as those statements were each "group-published" information, the result of the collective action of the Individual Defendants.

9. Each defendant is liable for (i) making false statements, or (ii) failing to disclose adverse facts known to him about Columbia while selling Columbia stock, or (iii) participating in a fraudulent scheme which permitted defendants to sell shares of Columbia stock at artificially inflated prices. Defendants' fraudulent scheme and course of business that operated as a fraud or deceit on purchasers of Columbia stock was a success, as it (i) deceived the investing public regarding Columbia's products and business; (ii) artificially inflated the price of Columbia's stock and publicly traded options; and (iii) caused Plaintiffs and other members of the Class to purchase Columbia stock and options at inflated prices.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

- 10. This is a securities class action on behalf of purchasers of the common stock and publicly traded options for common stock of Columbia from January 1, 1998 through and including December 31, 1999 (the "Class Period"), against Columbia and certain of its officers and directors for violations of the 1934 Act.
- 11. Columbia is in the business of credit and debit card services, banking and financial services, and document management and distribution services. In connection with these services, Columbia provides its customers with a link between consumers, merchants and financial institutions by capturing the initial transaction at the point of sale, giving the merchant credit for that transaction, posting the transaction to the financial institution's accounts receivables and general ledger, and ultimately placing the transaction on the customer's statement. Columbia operates through its wholly-owned subsidiary, First Independent Computers, Inc., a Texas corporation ("FICI"), a multifaceted information service company.

- 12. On April 28, 1997, Defendants Gallant and Baetz purchased all the common stock of FICI for $1,600,000 in cash. On September 23, 1997, Columbia purchased all of the common stock of FICI from Defendants Gallant and Baetz in exchange for 10,631,250 shares of Columbia common stock, which represented approximately 85% of Columbia's then issued and outstanding stock.
- 23. During the Class Period, Columbia's executives issued extremely positive statements about Columbia's business. Defendants told investors that Columbia enjoyed strong or increasing demand for most of its products and services. The truth, however, contrasted starkly with defendants' representations.
- 14. Plaintiffs are informed and believe that Defendants materially inflated sales and earnings, deceiving the investing public. Defendants thus caused Columbia's financial results reported during the Class Period to be in gross violation of Generally Accepted Accounting Principles ("GAAP"). Defendants carefully concealed their conduct.

15. Defendants' public statements were materially false. The effect of this fraud was to inflate Columbia's financial results and to cause the market to overvalue Columbia stock and options during the Class Period.

DEFENDANTS' SCIENTER

16. The Individual Defendants had the ability to commit the fraud complained of, and did, as they were the top executives and/or directors of Columbia. Each of the Individual Defendants was in a position to, and did, learn the details of Columbia's business condition, financial reporting, operating results, prospects, and sales and inventory practices, through numerous management meetings, through conversations with other executive officers and directors, and through the review of regularly prepared reports that were circulated among defendants and others regarding the Company's sales, orders, inventories, products, and financial performance. As Columbia's top executives and/or directors, the Individual Defendants controlled Columbia's publicly issued financial statements and the disclosures made in them, Columbia's public statements, and its SEC filings, and thus could falsify them. They were involved with important issues facing Columbia's business such as directing and managing sales, and issuing Columbia's SEC filings, press releases and financial statements.

17. Not only did defendants learn of the adverse factors affecting Columbia's business, plaintiffs are informed and believe that they directed steps to conceal these facts from the investing public.

18. Each of the Individual Defendants, because of their top executive positions with Columbia and involvement in the day-to-day management of its business, actually knew from conversations with other corporate officers and employees and their attendance at management and Board meetings, the adverse non-public information about Columbia's misleading financial statements, its deteriorating revenue and EPS prospects, the lack of demand for its services. Thus, each Individual Defendant actually knew or with deliberate recklessness disregarded that Columbia's public statements were false and/or misleading when made.

DEFENDANTS' FALSE AND MISLEADING STATEMENTS DURING THE CLASS PERIOD

- 19. As part of defendants' scheme to lead the investing public to believe that Columbia's finances, business and prospects for growth were sound, Columbia issue a number of false and misleading statements in, inter alia, reports filed with the SEC, reports to shareholders, and press releases.
- 20. The positive statements about Columbia's business made by defendants during the Class Period were materially false and/or misleading when issued, and failed to disclose adverse information which was then known only to defendants due to their access to internal Columbia data and which was required to be disclosed to make the statements made not misleading.
- 21. Columbia's financial statements and the statements about them were false and misleading, as such financial information was not prepared in conformity with GAAP, nor was the financial information "a fair presentation" of Columbia's operations due to Columbia's improper accounting in violation of GAAP and SEC rules.

22. GAAP are those principles recognized by the accounting profession as the conventions, rules and procedures necessary to define accepted accounting practice at a particular time. Regulation S-X (17 C.F.R. $210.4-01(a)(1)) states that financial statements filed with the SEC which are not prepared in compliance with GAAP are presumed to be misleading and inaccurate. Regulation S-X requires that interim financial statements must also comply with GAAP, with the exception that interim financial statements need not include disclosure which would be duplicative of disclosures accompanying annual financial statements. 17 C.F.R. $210.10-01(a).

- 23. Due to accounting improprieties with respect to its income, earnings, services and/or reserves, the Company presented its financial results and statements in a manner which violated GAAP.
- 24. Further, the undisclosed adverse information concealed by defendants during the Class Period is the type of information which, because of SEC regulations, regulations of the national stock exchanges and customary business practice, is expected by investors and securities analysts to be disclosed and is known by corporate officials and their legal and financial advisors to be the type of information which is expected to be and must be disclosed.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF For Violation Of $10(b) Of The 1934 Act And Rule 10b-5 Against All Defendants

The preceding and superceding paragraphs are incorporated 25. herein by this reference.

- 27. Defendants violated $10(b) of the 1934 Act and Rule 10b-5 in that they:
 - (a) Employed devices, schemes, and artifices to defraud;
- (b) Made untrue statements of material facts or omitted to state material facts necessary in order to make statements made, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading; or
- (c) Engaged in acts, practices, and a course of business that operated as a fraud or deceit upon Plaintiffs and others similarly situated in connection with their purchases of Columbia's common stock and publicly traded options during the Class Period.
- 28. Plaintiffs and the Class have suffered damages in that, in reliance on the integrity of the market, they paid artificially inflated prices for Columbia stock and options. Plaintiffs and the Class would not have purchased Columbia stock or options at the prices they paid, or at all, if they had been aware that the market prices had been artificially and falsely inflated by defendants' misleading statements.

and their ownership of Columbia stock, the Individual Defendants had the power and authority to cause Columbia to engage in the

- In undertaking the aforedescribed actions, Defendants, and each of them, have engaged in a pattern of racketeering activity, pursuant to 18 U.S.C section 1962 (a), (b), (c) and (d). Among other things, Defendants' acts constitute violations of 18 U.S.C sections 1951 (interference with commerce and extortion); (racketeering); 1957 (relating to engaging in monetary 1952

- In undertaking their unlawful actions, defendants, and 35. each of them, have through a pattern of racketeering activity, become associated with an enterprise engaged in, or the activities of which affect, interstate or foreign commerce, and have conducted or participated in the conduct of the affairs of said enterprise.
- 36. In undertaking their unlawful actions, Defendants, and each of them, have violated and conspired to violate the provisions of 18 U.S.C. 1962 (a), (b), (c) and (d).
- 37. By reason of the foregoing, Plaintiffs have been injured in their business or property in an amount which cannot be presently ascertained. Among other damages and injuries, Plaintiffs have sustained economic damages by virtue of their investments in Columbia.
- 38. As a result of the foregoing, Plaintiffs are entitled to treble damages, plus interest, in an amount to be determined; costs of this suit, and attorneys fees.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION (California Corporations Code section 25400, et seq.) (Against all Defendants)

- The preceding and superceding paragraphs are incorporated 39. herein by this reference.
- California Corporations Code section 25401 makes it unlawful for any person to offer or sell a security in Calfornia or buy or offer to buy a security in California by means of any written or oral communication which contains an untrue statement of material fact or omits to state a material fact necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading.

- 41. Defendants, by the acts herein complained of, sold or caused to be sold Columbia securities in Calfornia by means of written and/or oral communications containing untrue statements of material fact and/or omitting to state material facts necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading. Defendants thus are in violation of California Corporations Code section 25401.
- 42. California Corporations Code section 25402 makes it unlawful for any issuer or person who is an officer, director or controlling person of any issuer or any other person whose relationship to the issuer gives him access, directly or indirectly, to material information about the issuer not generally available to the public, to purchase or sell any security of the issuer in this state at a time when he knows material information about the issuer gained from such relationship which would significantly affect the market price of that security and which is not generally available to the public, and which he knows is not intended to be so available, unless he has reason to believe that the person selling to or buying from him is also in possession of the information.
- 43. Defendants, who were officers, directors or controlling persons of Columbia, had access, directly or indirectly, to material information about the issuer not generally available to the public. Defendant, by the acts herein complained of, purchased and/or sold securities of Columbia in California at a time when they knew material information about the issuer gained from such relationship that would significantly affect the market price of Columbia common stock and which was not generally available to the public, and which they knew was not intended to be so available. Defendants had no reason to believe that the person selling to and/or buying from them also had possession of the information. Defendants thus are in violation of California Corporations Code section 25402.

44. Under section 25501, defendants are liable to plaintiffs for rescission and/or damages for their violations of section 25401. Under section 25502, defendants are liable to plaintiffs for damages for their violations of section 25402.

(Common Law Fraud) (Against All Defendants)

- 45. The preceding and superceding paragraphs are incorporated herein by this reference.
- 46. Defendants knew that the representations they made to plaintiffs regarding Columbia, its finances and prospects were false and misleading when made. Defendants also knew that the ommissions of material fact made to plaintiffs regarding Columbia, its finances and prospects, were false and misleading when made.
- 47. Defendants made these false representations, and omitted to state material facts, with the express purpose of inducing plaintiffs to invest and purchase shares in Columbia.
- 48. Plaintiffs reasonably relied on Defendants' false representations, and on their omissions to state material facts, to invest in and puirchase shares of Columbia.

SIXTH CAUSE OF ACTION (Unfair Business Practices, California Business and Professions Code section 17200, et seq.) (Against all Defendants)

- 50. The preceding and superceding paragraphs are incorporated herein by this reference.
- 51. Defendants have engaged in improper or illegal activities which amount to unfair business practices, under Business and Professions Code section 17200, et seg.
- 52. Defendants have solicited and collected money from members of the public (including residents of California) for investments in Columbia securities. Plaintiffs are informed and believe that the money collected by Defendants has been used to further Defendants' unlawful activities. When investing money in Columbia securities, plaintiffs did not know it was furthering defendants' unlawful activities. Moreover, material information that would impact on the investing public's decisions on whether or not to invest money in Columbia was withheld from investors.
- 53. The actions of Defendants alleged in this complaint constitute violations of the Unfair Practices Act, California Business and Professions Code section 17200, et seq. Additionally, the benefits of Defendants' actions, when weighed against the risk of misleading or harming the public, are far out weighed so as to constitute unfair business practices.
- 54. Pursuant to California Business and Professions Code section 17204, Plaintiffs bring this cause of action on their own behalf and on behalf of the public.

- 55. In doing the acts alleged, Defendants acted with the intent and purpose of preying on the public, who are unaware of Defendants' pattern and practice of illegal activities.
- 56. Plaintiffs and the public have no adequate remedy at law, since many of the unfair acts alleged herein are perpetrated in secret, without the knowledge of the public. Defendants' acts also serve to divert business of other bona fide organizations and destroy competition.
- 57. Plaintiffs are informed and believe that the acts of Defendants alleged herein have caused the public damages in excess of the jurisdictional limits of this court, and that any further acts by Defendants, unless restrained, will cause irreparable injury and damages to the public and Defendants' competitors, the exact nature, amount, and extent of which will be impossible to ascertain.
- 58. Plaintiffs also seeks an order requiring Defendants to disgorge profits acquired by means of the unfair business practices alleged above.
- 59. Plaintiffs are also entitled to a reasonable award of attorneys fees for acting in the public's interest.

SEVENTH CAUSE OF ACTION (Conspiracy) (Against all Defendants)

- The preceding and superceding paragraphs are incorporated 60. herein by this reference.
- Plaintiffs are informed and believe and thereon alleges that, in addition to or in the alternative to acting individually for their own improper purposes, Defendants, and each of them, also intentionally conspired with each other to perpetrate the wrongful and illegal acts alleged herein.

- 62. As direct and proximate result of Defendants' current and past actions, Plaintiffs have suffered damages in an amount to be proved at time of trial.
- 63. Defendants' actions were intentional and done with malice. Plaintiffs are, therefore, entitled to an award of punitive damages pursuant to Civil Code Section 3294 and other applicable law.

PLAINTIFFS' CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

- 64. Plaintiffs bring this action as a class action pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 23(a) and (b)(3) on behalf of a Class consisting of all persons who purchased shares of Columbia common stock and its publicly traded options during the period January 1, 1988 through December 31, 1999, inclusive (the Class Period), and who were damaged thereby. Excluded from the Class are defendants; the officers and directors of the Company during the Class Period, members of their immediate families, and their legal representatives, heirs, successors or assigns; and any entity in which defendants have or during the Class Period had a controlling interest.
- 65. The members of the Class are so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable. While the exact number of Class members is unknown to plaintiffs at this time and can only be ascertained through appropriate discovery, plaintiffs believe that there are thousands of members of the Class and that they are geographically dispersed. As of this filing, there were millions of shares of Columbia common stock outstanding, which actively traded under the ticker symbol "CLCK" through the NASDAQ bulletin board.

- 66. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the members of the Class, as all members of the Class are similarly affected by defendants' wrongful conduct in violation of federal law and state law that is complained of in this Complaint.
- 67. Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the members of the Class and have retained counsel competent and experienced in class action and securities litigation.
- 68. Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Class and predominate over any questions solely affecting individual members of the Class. Among the questions of law and fact common to the Class are:
- a) Whether defendants' acts as alleged herein constitute violations of the federal securities and state law;
- b) Whether defendants participated in and pursued the common course of conduct complained of herein;
- c) Whether statements made by defendants to the investing public during the Class Period misrepresented material facts about the business, finances and operating performance of Columbia;
- (d) Whether the market price of Columbia's common stock and options during the Class Period was artificially inflated due to the material misrepresentations and failure to correct the material misrepresentations complained of in this Complaint; and
- (e) Whether the members of the Class have sustained damages as a result of defendants' conduct and, if so, the proper measure of damages.

69. A class action is superior to all other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy, since joinder of all members is impracticable. Furthermore, as the damages suffered by individual Class members may be relatively small, the expense and burden of individual litigation make it impossible for members of the Class to individually redress the wrongs done to them. There will be no difficulty in the management of this action as a class action.

STATUTORY SAFE HARBOR

The statutory safe harbor provided for forward-looking statements under certain circumstances does not apply to any of the allegedly false forward-looking statements pleaded in this Complaint. The statutory safe harbor does not apply to Columbia's false financial statements. Also, none of the particular oral forward-looking statements pleaded herein were identified as "forward-looking statements" when made. None of the written forward-looking statements made were identified as forward-looking statements. Nor was it stated as to either type of forward-looking statement that actual results "could differ materially from those projected." Nor did meaningful cautionary statements identifying important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements accompany those forward-looking statements. Each of the forward-looking statements alleged herein to be false was authorized by an executive officer of Columbia and was actually known by each of the Individual Defendants to be false when made.
